Detroit Industry Halted—Strikes in the nation's auto capital continue to tie up the motor industry's reconversion program. Above are pickets at the Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. refinery in nearby Trenton where a strike of 500 workers has cut Detroit's gasoline supply an estimated 75 per cent. At right is the stilled yard of the Ford plant with wheels on a supply line remaining as they were when the plant closed because of the strike.

Auto Union Heads In Temporary Bid

DETROIT, Sept. 18 (AP)—Officers of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) indicated today they would be willing to accept temporary adjustments of their 30 per cent wage increase demand on the automobile industry.

The Plan For Strike

By EDWIN BRAND

Labor Editor, the Detroit Times
Special to the Boston American

DETROIT, Sept. 18—Unless a 30 per cent wage increase is granted throughout the auto industry, the UAW-CIO will close down the huge General Motors Corp. and attempt to force that multi-billion-dollar concern out of business in the union's initial test of a new and revolutionary strike tactic.

The disclosure was made by Walter Reuther, UAW-CIO international vice-president shortly after R. J. Thomas, union president, stated in Flint, Mich., that the union intends to force the wage issue in the automobile industry by closing down one company, while at the time seeing that competitors get 100 per cent production.

This could conceivably wreck the affected company, since the planned strike is timed, according to Reuther, to occur during an economically strategic period—just when volume production is getting under way for the first time in more than four years.

"We'll take on General Motors," Reuther told union local representatives, "because General Motors is the one that sets the wage policy for the entire industry."

"Ford and Chrysler will go along with General Motors. I have learned that by experience."

If there is a strike it probably will occur early in November or late in October.

"That is when the General Motors economic competitive setup would be least liable to stand the strain," Reuther said, "because volume automobile production will just be getting under way and millions of people are going to be wanting automobiles."

Stressing the necessity for rigid membership discipline in the event of a strike, Reuther continued:

"This proposed strike can be compared to a military maneuver. We have to be sure some corporal down the line doesn't upset our plans."

"The strike has to be planned on a national basis. If we do this, we can make economic gains greater than ever before in the history of the country."

"The present is the greatest opportunity ever offered for millions of workers to achieve better living conditions. The alternative is another war."

"We want full employment, full production and full consumption."

Reuther reiterated Thomas' Flint assertion that in the future the union will not submit general dispute cases to the WLB, and that it will withdraw all general wage cases now pending before the WLB.

"If industry refuses to negotiate on an industry-wide basis, we will deal with individual companies."

President R. J. Thomas and Secy.-Treas. George F. Addes said at Flint, however, the union would not be satisfied in an ultimate settlement with any less than 30 per cent. Addes said there would be no compromise.

"Labor doesn't do business in the old-fashioned way any more," Addes declared.

Thomas and Addes said locals of the UAW-CIO were at liberty to accept wage increases of less than 30 per cent but the international union would insist on 30 per cent.

Top-ranking UAW-CIO officials went ahead with plans for possible strike votes in Ford, General Motors and Chrysler Corp. plants.

Company officials maintained a "no-comment" attitude, but responsible sources said some of the manufacturers would meet today to discuss the situation that has made 80,000 workers idle.

White House sources offered no comment on this statement by R. J. Thomas:

"I would like to point out that the late President Roosevelt had made a commitment to organized labor that if we went along in the duration of hostilities in Europe with the Little Steel Wage Formula freeze, he, President Roosevelt, would see to it that in the reconversion period hourly wages would be increased to make up for the 29 per cent reduction in the take-home pay resulting in the drop of the weekly work week from 48 to 40."

WLB Chairman George W. Taylor said at Washington that he never had heard of such a commitment, and William Green, AFL president, said it was never discussed in his presence.

30,000 Oil Workers Set to Join Strike

By Associated Press

CIO oil workers left their jobs in East Chicago, Indiana, and in the Detroit area yesterday and strikes threatened all Gulf Oil and Texas Co. refineries in Texas. Union officials said some 30,000 workers in six states had been alerted for a possibly industry-wide strike to enforce union demands for reduction in work-week hours from 32 to 40 with no cut in pay. They were in Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Kentucky.

In Chicago the CIO United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers' Union served notice on four major tractor companies employing 30,000 members that it would fight for a 30 per cent wage boost.

The work stoppages spread from California to New York and into the South, keeping nearly 200,000 idle. But the bulk of workers were in varied lines of industry and business in the north central section.

The disputes hit many of the bigger cities—New York, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, St. Louis, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Milwaukee and Memphis.

Jap Premier Denies Cruelties

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18 (AP)—Japan's Premier Prince Naruhiko Higashi-Kuni, in a press conference with more than 100 Allied correspondents, denied today he ever had ordered any American airmen killed or had anything to do with war prisons, CBS and Mutual reporters said in broadcasts from Tokyo.

Furlough Home Extended by Army to 45 Days

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Soldiers back from overseas but destined for more Army duty now are being given 45 days off instead of 30.

War Department officials said today commanders were being instructed to allow returning soldiers who are not being discharged to have 45 days "temporary duty."

Under this system, the returnee applies for temporary duty at a place of his own selection, usually at or near his home town. He is free to do as he pleases during the 45 days, the only requirement being that he report initially to the place he selected for temporary duty.

Soldiers now on 30-day temporary duty who are to remain in the service will have their time extended 15 days to provide the full 45-day period. They will be notified of the extension by commanding officers. They should not remain beyond the 30 days unless notification is received.

Suspend Big Jap Paper

By DUANE HENNESSY

TOKYO, Sept. 18 (AP)—The newspaper Asahi was suspended for two days for charging the United States broke international law with the atomic bomb and implying that stories of Jap atrocities in the Philippines were a cover up for "outrages" of U. S. soldiers in Japan.

Gen. MacArthur, who previously had told the Jap press to publish documented evidence of the barbarities of its soldiers during the war in the Pacific, told the influential Tokyo newspaper to shut down at 4 p. m. until the same hour Thursday.

Like the rest, Asahi had published an editorial about the "regretful atrocities" but into its report crept the following:

1—That the Japs who read the reports were unanimous in saying they were unbelievable.

2—That the Jap government repeatedly stressed the moral character of the soldiers, who were good fathers and sons at home and "it cannot be believed" they "committed such cruelties on the unarmed masses."

3—That perhaps the atrocity report was issued to overshadow news of outrages "committed by some of the American soldiers in Japan."

4—That American newspapermen said atrocities kept the Japs from capturing the heart of the Filipinos and "this point" applies also to the Allied forces now in Japan.

Jap press reports of misconduct among Allied troops never have been substantiated and are regarded by the Army as propaganda to keep the public stirred up.

While MacArthur showed the Japanese he would not tolerate inordinance in their press, he eased restrictions on the ground-level air service radiating from Tokyo.

Headquarters announced service could be resumed, provided no more than four transport planes were in the air at one time. The order was subject to cancellation when it ceases to further Allied interests.

The occupation of this country proceeded quietly, with no further elaboration of MacArthur's statement of yesterday that 200,000 regular Army troops probably would be sufficient to rule Japan within six months.

Stimson's Post to Patterson

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—President Truman has chosen Undersecretary Robert P. Patterson to succeed Henry L. Stimson as Secretary of War. This was learned today as President Truman called a news conference for 4 p. m. when he is expected to make the official announcement.

Stimson will be 78 Friday. His retirement may be followed by several other War Department changes.

John J. McCloy, assistant secretary of war, also is expected to return to private life soon. The retirement of Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, is expected within weeks.

Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, chief of the Army service forces, may soon take a job in private industry. Gen. Henry H. "Hap" Arnold, commanding general of the Army air forces, is another who wants to retire.

STALIN III, MAY QUIT, SAYS PARIS

PARIS, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Paris Presse said in a copyright article today that Generalissimo Stalin was likely to relinquish his presidency of the Council of People's Commissars (premiership) this winter and will retire from all political activity because of ill health.

The newspaper described Stalin as suffering from a liver ailment in conjunction with fatigue. This, it said, was the explanation of his delay in arriving for the Potsdam conference.

Yves Delbars, writer of the story and known in Paris as a specialist on Russian affairs, said the ailment developed to a serious point as far back as 1942 at the most critical moment of the battle for Stalingrad.

Who Stole Gus?

Paralyzed Girl, 4, Pines for Doll

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—It was a sorry bit of knavery that turned upside down the world of four-year-old Marie Lacerra and practically everyone in the neighborhood of her Brooklyn home, in addition to the police, is trying to right it for her.

Marie is a spastic paralytic, robbed of muscular co-ordination because of a brain injury at birth. She can speak only two words, "Mama" and "Gus."

Gus is a monkey doll, a raggedy, caress-worn, battered thing but the light of her life. Gus had been something to hug and cherish and call by name, something to hold at night in bed. But Gus has been stolen. Stolen, too, with a stroller especially built for Marie's needs.

Gus was nothing to appeal to an adult. He was a little out of shape from being hugged. Yet he was a symbol of something very precious to the little girl who found happiness in him.

The Lacerras had left the stroller, with Gus in it as usual, in front of their house, while they took Marie for an automobile ride to Prospect Park. It simply never occurred to them that anyone would steal a paralyzed girl's toys.

But someone did. Her parents and neighbors searched their section of Brooklyn without success. Mr. and Mrs. Lacerra were careful not to mention the word "Gus" in Marie's presence but Marie spoke it.

She was bewildered. Gus was not only something she loved, but he represented half of her vocabulary. Her face would cloud. Her eyes would turn from one parent to the other, and she would try to make plain the question in her heart by saying over and over again: "Gus?"

Her father asked the police to help him. He rounded up his friends, Angelo, 12, and Nancy, 15, organized their playmates. The search was thorough. It was also futile.

The Lacerras are quite willing that the thief keep the stroller. It had five adjustable positions instead of the usual two and the manufacturer who built it especially for Marie outdid himself in workmanship, but the thief is welcome to it, the family says.

They ask only, "Please return Gus."

Wife in Imogene Triangle Forgives

By FRANK CONNIFF

NEW CANAAN, Ct., Sept. 18—With the manslaughter trial of Imogene Stevens scheduled to start soon at Bridgeport, Mrs. Betty Milton, whose husband allegedly Texan, broke her silence today and said she bore Imogene no resentment.

"Everything will come out at Imogene's trial," she declared. "A lot of things have been said about us so far that are nothing but—well, just plain baloney."

Mrs. Stevens' case was at the end of a heavy docket, and the Bridgeport Superior Court, which opens its fall session this afternoon, is not expected to reach it for some time.

She is out on $15,000 bail in the killing of Albert Kovacs, 19, a Navy man, last June 23. It is sometimes permitted for prosecution and defense counsel to agree for bonded defendants to be arraigned at a stipulated hour.

If this has been arranged, Mrs. Stevens may not appear in court until later in the week.

Mrs. Milton, standing in her home just a few feet from where Seaman Kovacs crumpled in a blast of lead allegedly fired by Imogene, told this reporter today: "I don't feel any resentment against Imogene. . . . Those stories were pretty bad, but I think a lot of misunderstanding will be cleared up at the trial."

She glanced at the locked, deserted house next door—from week—one of their three children is of school age. New Canaan has buzzed with reports they planned to move away.

"If that's so, I haven't heard of it," said Mrs. Milton. One of the first defendants to face the court today will be Samuel Bell, 21, of Norwalk, who will be a witness at Mrs. Stevens' trial. Bell, who is being held on a holdup charge, said soon after the Kovacs slaying he was in the Milton home a short time before the killing and that he was "an old drinking pal" of Imogene.

Nor'easter Just 'A Slight Error'

The nor'easter predicted for today didn't happen and everybody's happy but the Boston office of the weather bureau which admits "a slight error in calculating the course of the southern hurricane."

Roland Boucher, official forecaster at East Boston observatory, said the prediction of heavy rains and high winds was based on the expected course of the southern storm.

"We expected the tropical disturbance to move in a more or less normal path northeast over the sea," he explained. "Instead it went inland and diminished rapidly in intensity."

He said his forecast was justified in view of the strong winds which lashed the southern coast of Massachusetts last night and early today. He said Cape Cod reported winds up to 37 miles an hour.

"We hit the wind forecast right in Boston and along the coast," he said. "Boston had winds up to 30 miles an hour and out at sea they were up to 45."

Asked about the statement of an observatory employe that "an old-fashioned nor'easter like the old-timers called a 'line storm' was on the way," Boucher replied:

"That was an unfortunate exaggeration and not an official prediction. Sometimes that happens when somebody other than the forecaster answers questions."

Boucher, undaunted by the miss on a severe storm forecast, predicted that Boston will get occasional rain today, tonight and Wednesday. He said northeast winds hereabouts will be up to 35 miles an hour and diminish gradually on Wednesday.

"Sometimes I think we need a public relations man in this office," he concluded.

Senators Hear Demand for Hirohito Arrest

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Smoldering congressional dissatisfaction with peace terms imposed upon Japan flamed today with a demand by Senator Russell (D.) of Georgia for the arrest of Emperor Hirohito as a war criminal.

The Georgian decried, in a Senate address, what he described as a "soft peace" developing for Japan. He said if present policies were continued "we are headed for complete failure and another war" in the Orient.

Russell said that by treating the Emperor "with great deference" the Allies are failing to impress the Japanese people with the fact that they lost the war.

"Hirohito is the head and heart of Jap imperialism," Russell declared. "He is one of the greatest aggressors of history."

He is the god-emperor, in the direction of whose imperial palace millions of Japanese kneed and prostrated themselves in the dust in abject apology for their failure to kill enough Americans to win the war."

Belsen's Living Slept With Dead

By JOSEPH WILLICOMBE, JR.

LUENEBERG, Germany, Sept. 18 (INS)—Living prisoners, beaten, starved and tortured, were forced to share bunks with dead victims of the Nazis at the notorious Belsen concentration camp, testimony at the first major war criminal trial disclosed today.

ON TRIAL—Charged with conspiracy to commit mass murder, Irma Grese, SS woman henchman of Josef Kramer, the "Beast of Belsen," goes on trial in Luenberg, Germany, before a British military court. She has been named the "worst guard in the camp."

Associated Press Wirephoto Radioed From London

Brig. Glyn Hughes, British vice-deputy medical services director, took the stand as a principal witness against Josef Kramer, the so-called "Beast of Belsen," at the second day of his trial along with 40-odd co-defendants.

He told in gruesome detail of the scenes when British troops overran the Belsen camp in April.

With accusations already made that four million persons met their death at Kramer's hands, Hughes' testimony was a review of conditions which horrified the world.

The shabby huts for prisoners were "jam-packed" with the living, the dead and the dying, the British medical expert said. Victims in every stage of every dread disease were left without care and open graves were filled with bodies.

He told of finding 17,000 sick and dying women in a compound built for only 474 prisoners.

Hughes described the corpses stacked by the hundreds within sight of the children's compound, adding that, although the medical store contained large supplies, the 17,000 sick were given only 300 aspirin tablets in one week.

He said there was no anti-vermin powder and little disinfectant, and hundreds of boxes sent for Jewish prisoners by the Jewish Red Cross were left unopened.

As Hughes recounted the horrible details, one woman prisoner smiled and whispered to a neighboring prisoner.

A military guard warned her to keep quiet.

Kramer and his colleagues, who include a number of women charged with the worst cruelty of all, opened the day's proceedings by demanding that numbered placards hung around their chests for identification purposes, be removed. Maj. Gen. H. P. M. Berny-Ficklin, presiding officer of the court, rejected the plea.

YD Men Land Here Among 1971 Troops

The transport Georgetown Victory docked at Commonwealth Pier today with 1971 troops, including 150 New Englanders, many of them high-point YD men.

The ship also carried elements of the Sixth Armored Division and the 86th Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron.

One of the first YD men ashore was T4 Edmund Cote, 28, of Arbor ter, Fall River, who declared his household was going to have "a birthday party to end all birthday parties."

Cote explained it will be his wife's birthday tomorrow, his own birthday will come Sunday and that of their three-year-old boy was last Sunday. "So we are going to have one whopper of a party," he promised.

T5 Maurice Lajoie, 29, of Grant st., Duxbury, another YD veteran, brought home a Silver Star with two clusters and the Bronze Star. The most demonstratively happy soldier to hit the pier was PFC Frank Zeoli, 28, of Everett st., East Boston. He jumped up and down with joy after coming down the gangplank. Zeoli has been in the Army five years. He said he has a 6-month-old son, Francis, whom he has never seen.

Also of the YD was T4 James W. Harris of Sea st., Quincy, wearer of five Battle Stars. His comrades included Sgt. William Burns, 25, of Dickinson st., Cambridge; T5 Dolor Bouffard, 29, of Lakeside ave., Marlboro, and PFC William McClelland, 23, of Palmer st., Salem.

14,495 Troops Near New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—The giant liner Queen Elizabeth, en route from Southampton to New York with 14,495 soldiers, WACs and civilians, will dock at 10 p. m. tomorrow if she is not delayed by the storm, port officials said today.

Debarcation is scheduled for 11:15 p. m., and is expected to continue throughout the night. Army officials said that thus far the storm had not delayed any troops and that none had been diverted to other ports.

Bird Sanctuary Protests Turned Down by U. S.

Despite lengthy and violent protests of Massachusetts residents, the Department of the Interior refused today to abandon its plans for a 10,000-acre migratory bird sanctuary in Essex County's Parker river area, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

Asserting the sanctuary would be a "health menace" to communities in the area, Gov. Tobin declared he would "appeal to President Truman as a last resort," if other methods failed to halt the project.

"I have been informed by Chief Engineer Arthur D. Weston of the health department regarding the threat to health," the Governor said at a press conference. "The State will use every legal power to protect its rights and the health of the people in this matter."

Earlier this year, the Governor signed a bill which would prevent the government from taking additional land in the area.

Characterizing the Interior Department's methods as "high handed," Conservation Commr. Archibald K. Sloper declared the matter was "not a closed book" and that the people are "too incensed" to drop the fight.

Residents of the area and Massachusetts sportsmen had appealed through the Legislature and Massachusetts Senators for abandonment of the project on the ground it was "unnecessary and unwanted"; that it would work hardship on landowners there and ruin clamming and recreation there.

The decision to continue the sanctuary project was made public by Undersecretary of the Interior Abe Fortas in the absence of Sec. Ickes, who is in London. It was based on a public hearing held in Washington last June.

In the decision, Ickes ruled abandonment of the project would be against the public interest and ordered that some land taken for the refuge be returned to owners in "hardship" cases.

Musician Guilty In Draft Case

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—Teddy Powell, 39-year-old orchestra leader, pleaded guilty in federal court today to an indictment charging conspiracy to violate the Selective Service Act. He will be sentenced Oct. 2.

The orchestra leader was charged with giving money and gifts to obtain delays and exemption from the draft in 1943. He later was rejected for service.

Girl Sued for Ring by Vet Denies Troth, Calls It Gift

When CPO Nicholas J. Taddeo, 52, a veteran of almost 35 years of naval service, gave Miss Alice E. Nelson, 34, of Lonsdale st., Dorchester, a diamond ring in 1942, he thought it meant they were engaged but she testified in Suffolk Superior court today that it was just a friendly gift.

Taddeo's suit to recover the two-carat diamond ring is being heard by Judge Harold P. Williams in a jury-waived session.

Taddeo testified he gave her the ring Dec. 30, 1942, with the understanding they were becoming engaged to wed, and that she has refused to return it after breaking their engagement early this year.

He produced two witnesses, Mrs. Alice Machado, of Sagamore st., Quincy, and Mrs. Grace B. Richards, of Congress ave., North Quincy, each of whom testified Miss Nelson had proudly displayed her "engagement" ring in their presence.

But Miss Nelson took the stand and declared Taddeo had pressed the ring on her just before Christmas of 1942, saying it was a mark of his gratitude for her kindness to him while he was hospitalized that year.

She said she at first refused to take the ring and then accepted it only on condition that they remain "just friends" and that he agreed. She declared that neither of them ever referred to it as an "engagement" ring and that he never introduced her as his fiancée.

It was Taddeo who ended their friendship, not she, Miss Nelson testified.

The case is continuing.

Army Wooser Fined in Gunplay

Whether it was jealousy or something else which caused a shot to be fired in an Edgerly rd., Back Bay, apartment house was not disclosed today as Lt. Chester H. Heidmann, 48, veteran of two years in France and Germany, was arraigned in Roxbury court.

After pleading not guilty to charges of unlawfully carrying and discharging a firearm, the lieutenant was found guilty on both counts and fined $50 by Judge Samuel Eisenstadt.

He was turned over to Army authorities, whose further investigation may solve the mystery.

Police claim he fired the shot after becoming enraged with a fellow officer's delay after he had sent him to visit his girlfriend in the capacity of a modern John Alden.

State Asks Retrial For Convicted Vet

Asst. Dist. Atty. Samuel H. Cohen of Middlesex County today recommended a new trial for a Navy veteran he prosecuted for armed robbery last January and who was sent to Concord Reformatory for five years and one day.

His recommendation was made on behalf of Raymond McArdle, 23, of Middlesex st., Lowell, before Judge George F. L. Leary in Middlesex Superior Court. Judge Leary had sentenced McArdle after a jury returned a finding of guilty against him and two others.

Cohen and McArdle's counsel, Atty. Nathan Peikes, told the jurist new evidence had been uncovered. Judge Leary took under advisement Peikes' motion for a new trial and Cohen's recommendation that it be granted.

Cohen also recommended that McArdle be released from Concord on his personal recognizance pending a new trial.

In court with the Navy veteran were Louis J. Mason, 25, of North Chelmsford and Harold W. Whiting, 21, of Newhall st., Lowell, who had been sentenced with him.

Both testified he had not participated in the robbery. Mason named Floyd W. Perreault, 20, of Lowell, as one of the holdup gang. Later Asst. Dist. Atty. Cohen disclosed Perreault had been secretly indicted for armed robbery. The youth is in the Army, stationed in Kentucky, but will be brought here for trial if the Army permits.

Whiting would not tell who took part in the robbery, but he said McArdle did not.

The trio were sentenced Jan. 12 in connection with the holdup of Frank Sharron, a storekeeper of Kinsman st., Lowell, who reported $400 had been taken from him at gunpoint.

Buddies to Fete 4 Millionth

Since the opening back on May 10, 1942, servicemen from every part of the world have beat a path to the US-Buddies' Club on Boston Common, founded through kind gifts of the readers of the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser.

Next Sunday a very special guest will be feted.

His identity is not yet known, but on that day it is estimated the club's four-millionth serviceman will pass through the doors.

A special celebration awaits him. On hand will be Lt. Col. Francis S. Gabreski of Oil City, Pa., famed fighter pilot of the 8th Air Force, who bagged 28 German planes before he was taken prisoner.

A dance will be held at 8 p. m. and then the visitor will be dinner guest of the Club at a Back Bay hotel.

Next day he will go to a luncheon, an afternoon ball game, and wind up at the theater.

Kerrigan Opens Mayoralty Fight

Mayor Kerrigan's campaign for return to office was in full swing today after being launched formally last night with a rally of more than 500 supporters in his headquarters in the former S. S. Pierce building at Tremont and Beacon sts.

The rally was keyed by declaration of the mayor's neighbor, Rep. John E. Powers, of South Boston, that a Kerrigan victory on Nov. 6 was "imperative for the city's future security."

Prominent Republicans, including Reps. Stuart Rand, Perlie Dyar Chase and Louis Lobel; President Frank E. Bryant of the Suffolk County Republican Club, and Douglas Lawson, real estate executive, were among those attending.

Diary Clue in Maine Death of Hub Lawyer

With a diary and opinions of relatives to guide them, Maine authorities today sought the puzzling answer to the shotgun death of a man believed to have been William P. Sawyer, 66, retired Boston lawyer and friend of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The victim's body, the head blasted away by a charge of buckshot, was washed ashore near the Pemaquid Point lighthouse outside of Bristol, Me., where Sawyer had kept a lonely and eccentric vigil for 14 years.

Heading the probe is County Atty. Charles M. Giles, who ordered an autopsy after stating the light-tending recluse apparently was a victim of homicide. Relatives made the tentative identification from sport stockings and other clothing. The shotgun blast left facial identification impossible.

Among those who viewed the body were Arthur Sawyer, a cousin, and Walter Fawcett, both of nearby New Harbor.

If Sawyer was a victim of murder, robbery was not the motive, according to the early opinion of the probers.

The diary found in the lighthouse he cared for showed, among other things, collections he made from automobile parkers who traveled a lonely three-mile beach road for a view of the sea.

A Sept. 12 notation reads, "Money is in the secret drawer." On Sept. 13, the last entry: "Money in the secret drawer is $52.64."

Investigators found this money and other accounts scattered around the lighthouse. Other sums were found on tables, in boxes and jars. It was pointed out he was allowed to charge parking rates to visitors.

Giles disclosed that Sawyer was most eccentric and had been known to get up at 3 a. m. and collect his toll if a car halted on the point.

Sheriff Herbert L. Pinkham was the first to hint possible foul play. He said that in addition to the gunshot wound the victim had burns on his legs.

With County Atty. Giles taking charge, Capt. Leon P. Shepard of the Maine state police and Medical Examiner Joseph E. O'Grady were called in. The latter ordered the body removed to New Harbor and declined immediately to give any cause of death, although he said he was sure the victim was dead before he reached the water.

Greater Boston relatives of the victim were first told of their kin's death today by a Boston American reporter and expressed shock and surprise that he had met with foul play.

"I cannot understand how anyone would think of murdering such a quiet, easy-going man as William," declared Mrs. George R. Tottman of Melville ave., Dorchester, a cousin.

"He was most retiring and we never saw much of him from the time he gave up the law here and went to Maine. He loved the sea and boats and was happiest when he could get away from business and go sailing or fishing."

Other relatives here, all cousins, include Margaret B. Sawyer of Tremont st., Charlestown, a school teacher; Herbert F. Sawyer of Warwick rd., Melrose, a bank official; and Dr. E. K. Sawyer of Boston.

Sawyer lived in Highland ave., Roxbury, at a time he was admitted to the Boston Bar in 1907. He was born Oct. 25, 1879, was graduated from Boston Latin school in 1898 and attended Harvard from 1900 to 1904. He entered Harvard Law School but transferred to Boston University Law School, where he received his LL.B. in 1907.

Authorities revealed two clues which disclosed that Sawyer had been missing since last Wednesday. At the New Harbor postoffice, officials reported the elderly caretaker had not called for his mail since Sept. 11.

Sawyer was described as a gray-haired, mustached man, slight of build. He had misty blue eyes and a leathery complexion from years of hardy living on the rugged Maine coast.

opening here today may prepare for life, but preparing for school can be painful, says Matthew Zaccardi, 13, of 23 Kirkland st., Roxbury, as he gets his ears washed by his cousin, Terry Sapanpinto, 10 (above), while (at right) Wade D. Vets, War Workers At School Openings

Boston's youngsters, including shy first graders and bemedalled heroes of this war, went back to school today after a six-day delay from the regular scheduled opening.

They went back with the assurance by health authorities that there is slight danger of any serious outbreak of infantile paralysis and that the number of cases is well below those reported here in September last year.

Although all noses were not yet counted, Supt. of Schools Arthur L. Gould estimated about 99,000 pupils were on hand for the opening. About 32,000 more arrived at the parochial schools throughout the city.

It was one of the most unusual openings in Boston's long and famous history of education.

There were the usual number of crybabies—kindergartners who clutched mama's hand and cried lustily as teacher closed the classroom door and took over.

But there were also husky kids who dropped out of high school a year or two ago and since have seen sights that teacher has read about only in books. These were the kids who were in Normandy and France, on Okinawa and on the decks of ships at sea. They have come back to catch up and then continue with the college

No Polio Danger In School Rooms

Assuring children are as safe in school as at home insofar as contracting infantile paralysis is concerned, State Health Commr. Vlado A. Getting urged today there be no further postponement of opening of school sessions anywhere in Massachusetts.

"Contrary to popular opinion," Dr. Getting said, "children are exposed to the same extent while playing in the streets or attending movies."

"In school they are under constant supervision of teachers, nurses and doctors who are trained to look for early symptoms. Consequently the children are better off there than on the streets."

education their government has promised them.

There were also many 16-year-olds who set aside books for a war job and now have come back to the classrooms.

Overseas Buddies Grateful for Gifts

This year, as she did last year, Mrs. Alma Roy of Fairmount st., Fitchburg, will send Yuletide boxes to five servicemen through the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Christmas Gifts for Buddies Overseas campaign.

Four of the five whose holiday she gladdened last year still write to her, she said yesterday in a letter to the Christmas Gifts editor—but the fifth gave his life for his country.

"May God bless him," she prayed for Dan Cremin.

One of her 1944 "Christmas Gift sons," Cpl. John C. Armond of Hyde Park, returned from overseas, was discharged about a month ago, and called at her Fitchburg home. But unfortunately she was out. Now she is attempting to contact him. Mrs. Roy's son has been in the Navy 27 months.

Last year, more than 20,000 gift packages went to all fighting areas of the world from big-hearted readers of these newspapers. The packages were sent direct to individuals. This year, however, with so many men in process of transfer and redeployment and with thousands who will have been sent home, or be on their way to discharge centers, a new plan is necessary.

Readers are asked to fill out and mail the coupon which accompanies this story. In return, the reader will receive a label to be pasted on the Christmas box (you may ask for as many labels as you wish, to be pasted on that many boxes) bearing the name of a chaplain at a port, base or occupied area. These chaplains will distribute the packages. The label also will bear the name and return address of the sender.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Legislation to fix the postwar strength of the Navy at 558,000 officers and men and the Marine Corps at 108,000 was submitted to Congress today.

Twin bills were introduced in Senate and House by Senator Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts, and Rep. Vinson (D.) of Georgia, chairmen of the two naval affairs committees.

Old Charge Jails Firebug Suspect

Warren E. Libby, 38, of Spring st., Lexington, was arraigned in municipal court with touching off fires in two downtown Boston stores during the height of last Saturday's shopping.

He pleaded not guilty to four complaints of burning personal property and burning a building and was ordered to further hearing Oct. 3 by Judge Joseph E. Donovan, who set bail at $150 and sent the suspect to serve a 15-day suspended sentence previously meted out for drunkenness.

The two blazes did estimated damage of $10,000 in the Washington st. stores of Boyle Bros. clothing company and the Rogers Jewelry Co.

Bookie Loses Suit Over Stabbing

Booking horse bets was a "sporting proposition not work," George Guson, 26, of Tyler st., South End, testified today in Suffolk Superior Civil Court in his $150,000 damage suit against a South End cafe and two of the owners.

Guson said he was unable to work since January, 1939, when he claimed that he was stabbed in the arm in the Handy Grille, Tremont st., South End.

He sought $50,000 each from the cafe, and John and Nicholas Tartar, brothers who operated the place. The jury found for the defendants.

Nicholas Tartar testified his brother, a convicted murderer, was confined to Bridgewater Hospital for Criminally Insane. He denied that Guson was stabbed

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—The nylon hosiery dream suffered a setback today.

The National Ass'n of Hosiery Manufacturers said that even with predicted production of 3,500,000 dozen pairs by Christmas, less than one pair per woman would be available.

Besides that, rayons are likely to be in shorter supply than ever, with overall hosiery stocks lower than at any time since the war began.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18 (AP)—Excepting for 21 city firemen, four policemen, a rescue squad car, two hose trucks and a hook-and-ladder truck, 19-year-old Mrs. Anthony Sisi was unattended early today at the birth of her seven-and-a-half-pound son.

The husband, also 19, became excited and turned in a fire alarm when informed by his wife he was about to become a father any minute. Firemen, led by Capt. Aloysius Nestor, and police arrived amid a clanging of bells and sounding of sirens.

Capt. Nestor, father of seven, and Patrolman David Offutt, who has officiated at a score of emergency deliveries, rushed into the house with other firemen and

All Building Bans To Be Lifted Oct. 1

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Reconversion Director John W. Snyder today announced the lifting of all restrictions of construction of private homes and other buildings, effective Oct. 15.

Snyder announced a six-point program designed to speed expansion of the building industry, but his plan did not include ceilings on the price of new homes, for which OPA has pleaded.

Simultaneously, the War Production Board disclosed that its famed order "L-41" will be revoked as of Oct. 15. It limits the building of stores, office buildings, hotels, apartments and public works, as well as dwellings.

Price Administrator Chester Bowles, only an hour before Snyder's action, urged Congress to authorize price limits on new dwellings.

Otherwise, Bowles told a Senate small business subcommittee home prices will go sky-high in "the biggest price boom ever."

Flat Tire Clears Man in Assault

Testimony by a state trooper that he saw the accused miles away from the scene of an alleged criminal assault cleared Walter Wolnetz, 25, of Wilson ave., Belmont, of that charge in East Cambridge Court today.

State Trooper Theodore Shimkus testified that Wolnetz was fixing a tire on the highway near Oxford the night of Sept. 1 when Miss Margaret Hollomo, 23, of Cambridge, charged that he attempted to assault her in Cambridge.

Miss Hollomo testified that a man, completely unclad, leaped at her from the bushes. She told Judge Arthur P. Stone she "thought" it was Wolnetz but could not definitely identify him.

Wolnetz was, however, found guilty on three charges of sitting unclad in his automobile and attracting the attention of women pedestrians by sounding the auto horn. He was given a suspended term of 15 months in the house of correction and placed on probation for two years.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—Have you information concerning return of Air Service Command ground crews stationed in Assam, India? My husband has been in Army 31 months, eight of which were overseas. T. Y. Boston.

A—From your information he has a total of 57 points, not including 12 points for each child, up to 36 points. Men with points sufficient for discharge are being released from that area now. However, reports indicate troops are being redeployed from the C. E. I. area and eventually will arrive back in the U. S.

Q—I received an undesirable discharge. Am I entitled to state bonus, also would I be eligible for any benefits under G. I. Bill? L. E. Back Bay.

A—If your discharge was given under conditions other than dishonorable you may apply for the state bonus. Also you are eligible to apply for G. I. benefits, which is left to the discretion of Veterans' Administration.

Q—My husband is with the 36th Div. and has a total of 71 points. He is now on occupation duty. Will he be home soon on the point system? "Soldier's Wife," Brighton.

A—He has not sufficient points for immediate discharge, but according to latest reports he should be home by Christmas. Highest point men being screened out of occupation troops for immediate return. Further reduction in points expected to be announced soon by War Dept.

Q—Has the Marine Corps lowered the number of points required for discharge? M. M., Brighton.

announced points have been lowered from 85 to 70.

Q—Should I send Christmas boxes to my boy friend with the 83d Division or will he be home before then? A. M., Worcester.

A—It looks as though you can give your boy friend his Christmas present in person. The Division has been tentatively scheduled to sail in November. If Army's program goes along according to schedule, he should be home in time.

Q—My husband is overseas. He has National Service Life Insurance and says that his policy will expire this year. Is there anything I can do about this for him or should he do anything about it? H. S., Boston.

A—Nothing need be done about extending the life of your husband's National Service Life Insurance policy. An Act of Congress has extended the benefits for another three years.

Q—If I lose my discharge certificate can I get another? L. C., Concord.

A—No, but you may file an application with the Adjutant General's Office, Washington, D. C., and receive a Service Certificate in lieu of the lost discharge certificate.

Q—Does an officer who is going to revert to inactive status and will receive retirement pay also receive mustering out pay? C. P., Roslindale.

A—No, he does not receive mustering out pay.

Q—Does the Army provide legal advice for service people? J. M., Barre.

A—Yes, Legal Assistance Officers who have practiced law are designated and military personnel may seek legal advice from such officers.

eds Want Italy colony, Place in Mediterranean

LONDON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov today Russia was interested in Italian colonies and that there was "a grain of truth" in the report Russia wanted sole trusteeship over the north African colony of Tripolitania.

Speaking at a press conference in the Soviet embassy, Molotov declined to give specific Russian claims on Italy, but made it clear Russia was anxious to obtain a foothold on the Mediterranean. "I will not conceal the Soviet interest in Eritrea," Molotov said. He hinted at a willingness to compromise on Yugoslavia's claims against Italy by declaring territory Italian in character should remain Italian.

Molotov made a long statement supporting the governments established in Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary which the United States and Britain have refused to recognize.

Former Judge Hugh D. McLellan, counsel for Gordon B. Hannon, head of the Aldred Investment Trust, said it would be some days before it was decided whether an appeal would be taken from the U. S. Circuit Court's decision upholding appointment of a receivership for the trust.

Receivership and liquidation of the assets of the trust, majority stock owner of Suffolk Downs, was ordered last winter by Federal Judge George C. Sweeney on petition of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

GI Returns Home To New Triplets

Triplets—two girls and a boy—were born at City Hospital today to Mrs. Mildred Ridge of Clapp st., Dorchester, wife of a real GI Joe named Joseph Ridge.

The youngsters and mother, who Dr. Daniel McSweeney said were "doing just fine," delayed the happy event until the arrival home of the proud father, one of the most recent returnees from the European theater.

Car Collision Hurts Woman Pedestrian

Mrs. Alice Gullon, 65, of Bryant st., Malden, suffered a possible fracture of the right arm today when two automobiles collided at Bryant and Harvard sts., one being thrown over the sidewalk and up on a lawn where she was running for safety. It knocked her down.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess waste and acids out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or painful passages with smearing and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 16 million of kidney trouble sufferers who waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

HERE'S FAST RELIEF FOR UPSET STOMACH

SOUR TASTE IN MOUTH! BELCHING! STOMACH GAS!

The Natural FENUGREEK TEA Way!

FENUGREEK TEA IS A NATURAL HERB—NOT A DRUG

FENUGREEK TEA is not a drug nor a laxative... but the non-habit forming, natural herbal way to soothing relief. It is well-known for its ability to often relieve acid upset stomach, belching, stomach gas and sour taste in mouth.

"It's the most wonderful tea we've ever tried" say many users who swear by it!

FENUGREEK TEA is a natural herb that has given results to many when other methods seemingly failed. A cup of this very pleasant-tasting tea is taken before meals and upon retiring. This mixes with the food in one's stomach, and thus helps to relieve stomach gas, sourness, gas pains, acid upset stomach and belching.

So—if your stomach sometimes is affected by late hours, irregular habits, or when you eat, drink or smoke

In the Interest of
600,000 VETERANS of MASSACHUSETTS
Of This War (Men and Women)

400,000 OF OUR CITIZENS OVER 60 YEARS

Federal Taxes were Levied to carry on this war another year. The war is now over. This State Can Levy an income tax and collect ahead of Federal taxes this year and have plenty of funds for our plans without delay. Total Taxes no increase.

$1,000 a Year for all men and women veterans of this war for all time in service. $600 a Year for citizens at sixty.

The cost to this State for Federal adventures in communism, including Federal Employees in this State, is more than the cost of this bonus for veterans and pensions for all at sixty.

With Authority From Our Attorney General this society investigated the "Social and Employment Security," in Washington, and the records in the U. S. Treasury. The Funds of This State in this adventure have all been spent and Wasted in Real Communistic Action. The so-called "trust fund," 475 millions of our money is all gone and nothing to show for it, but U. S. Treasury I.O.U. Our plan will get that money back.

All Federal Operations within this State are of the same nature, pretending to benefit, but Always Costing Double or More and treating the State as a Communistic Puppet.

Veterans and older citizens should have their rights before using any funds to spread communism or dictatorship in this or any other country.

Salvage Drive Enters 2d Day

Boston's September waste paper and tin salvage drive was in its second day today, with trucks and workers covering the two South Boston wards and Wards 8, 9 and 10 of Roxbury. Tomorrow they will canvass Wards 11 through 14.

Collections in the first five wards of the city yielded 146,000 pounds of paper and 24,900 pounds of scrap tin. The same wards last month contributed 151,160 pounds of paper and 32,400 pounds of tin. Salvage Director George G. Hyland announced that this will be the last collection of tin cans, but urged householders to continue saving waste paper since a vast amount is still needed.

JVA Posters Fight Ragweed

Making of posters bearing the words "This Is Ragweed, Destroy It" is planned for members of the Defense and Aviation Corps of the Junior Victory Army in Dorchester by their sponsor, Miss Esther E. Larson.

She proposes to put the plan into effect during the spare time of her children who are pupils of Oliver Wendell Holmes School and have the posters placed wherever ragweed is growing in that neighborhood.

It is part of her long-range battle in the campaign of the JVA and Mass. Youth Committee to aid victims of hay fever and asthma.

"My boys and girls are in the battle against ragweed to the end," she said, "but they need the help of everybody. Through our posters we hope to get the aid of every householder."

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box

WE MUST END BRUTALITY

THE Hebrew Committee of National Liberation, through its chairman in the United States, Mr. Peter H. Bergson, has formally and urgently appealed to President Truman for an immediate and complete alleviation of the desperate and humiliating plight of more than two hundred thousand Jews still confined in German concentration camps.

If it is a SHOCK to the American people that so many Jews are still virtually IMPRISONED in Germany, it is time for them to face the fact.

The defeat of Germany has not meant LIBERATION for these unhappy people.

"The same notorious camps are there," Mr. Bergson has reported to the President, "the same bunks, the same German hideous prison clothes, the same barbed wire and armed sentries watching outside."

"Only it is an American, British or Russian soldier that stands guard now and this, if anything, makes it even more painful."

The deplorable situation lacks all elements of excuse or justification.

The hundreds of thousands of Jewish prisoners in Germany are not people without a homeland, as Mr. Bergson reminds the President.

All of them could be accommodated in Palestine, which the civilized world long has promised to the Jewish people as their national homeland.

The great majority of them eagerly WANT to go to Palestine, but lack not only the means to do so but the RIGHT to do so under the prevailing Allied occupation policy.

The influence and authority of the United States should be used to permit every Jew now under confinement in Germany to go to Palestine, with his own choice in the matter the only condition thereof.

As Mr. Bergson points out, ten Liberty ships assigned to the task could complete the evacuation of the entire imprisoned population in TWO MONTHS. And the cost of the evacuation would be actually LESS THAN EXPENSE OF MAINTENANCE IN THE CONCENTRATION CAMPS.

The longer the evacuation is delayed, the greater the ultimate cost will be—not alone in money, but in human destitution and tragedy; for the poisonous infection of anti-Semitism in Europe was not eradicated by the Nazi defeat, but has become rampant in all the lands from which the Jews have been displaced by the war and by oppression and persecution.

This is a situation already reeking with INJUSTICE and rapidly assuming the proportions of an international CRIME.

It is no longer the crime of Nazi Germany, but of those nations which accomplished the supposed liberation of Europe's oppressed peoples only to leave the most tyrannically oppressed of them all behind the barbed wire of their old prison camps.

America is a leader among the liberating nations. Let America accept its responsibility, and LIVE UP TO IT.

NOTABLE FILM

"THE TRUE GLORY," the motion picture story of the war in Europe from D-Day to V-Day, now being shown at the Metropolitan Theater in Boston, has been highly and deservedly praised by audiences everywhere.

It is truly the fighting men's own account of the suffering and sacrifices on the long, long road to victory and peace.

General Eisenhower speaks, and so also do nearly three thousand Allied men, all the way from Britain to Berlin.

There is a genuine quality in their voices and comments that no professional actors or announcers can ever quite achieve.

Later on, we hope, "The True Glory" will be shown in all schools and preserved for future generations to see.

"AND SO, my Fellow Countrymen, today I report to you that your sons and daughters have served you well and faithfully with the calm, deliberate, determined fighting spirit of the American soldier and sailor. Based upon a tradition of historical trait, as against fanaticism of an enemy supported only by mythological fiction, their spiritual strength and power have brought us through to victory. They are home-ward bound—take care of them."—Gen. Douglas MacArthur in speech to people of the United States, following Japanese surrender aboard U.S.S. Missouri, September 2, 1945.

REGRET TO SAY I am hearing from a number of service men still overseas who have received letters from their wives which say in effect: "Now that the war is over, I feel able to tell you all is over between us. I have found somebody else and would like a divorce." Am also informed by one fighting man, who has been awarded several decorations for bravery, that he came home from the battle fronts to find his wife had run off with another man. She took the joint savings of her husband and self. Also, left her aged mother behind for the husband to support. Some welcome for a hero, what?

WHY BAR AMERICANS?

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—One of the most pressing problems facing peacetime America and the U. S. occupation forces in Europe is the disposal of American surplus war material.

Approximately $5,000,000,000 worth of it lies in veritable "graveyards" scattered across the face of Europe. It lies there because it has been immobilized by a law which makes it almost impossible to sell.

This was the assertion today of former Undersecretary of the Treasury John W. Hanes, recently returned with Richard F. Berlin, president of the Hearst Corp., from a comprehensive survey of Germany and the liberated countries.

At the same time, Mr. Hanes revealed the almost incredible situation which practically bars American businessmen from reintitulating U. S. foreign trade in Europe—because of more red tape in the State Department.

In contrast, he said, British nationals are probing for continental markets under the blessing of the crown, getting the jump on our own nationals in those fields which will be so vital to our foreign trade—and thus employment—once they are opened up.

This, Mr. Hanes declared, is due to the fact that it is virtually impossible for U. S. citizens to get visas, and because travel is blocked to such an extent that some businessmen are despairing of ever reopening European trade routes.

Meanwhile, the hungry eyes of all nations are on the astronomical amount of our war surplus, for contained in it is the machinery those nations need to get their own industry on its feet.

Trucks, jeeps and passenger cars by the hundreds of thousands; typewriters and office supplies; mechanical and other equipment in sufficient quantity to rehabilitate many industries lie frozen—yet U. S. citizens who hope to refurbish their bombed-out and war-ravaged business in Europe face the ironical situation of having to purchase it from foreign governments—once it is sold to them—at as much as six times the price these foreign governments paid for it.

As an example, Mr. Hanes said, the French have a law which says that no national or foreign resident of France may buy any of this U. S. owned surplus property, except through the French government.

The French are more than eager to buy it—with francs—and then sell it to residents, including Americans, at a handsome profit, Mr. Hanes said.

During his travels Mr. Hanes met one harried American businessman who was lucky enough to get a visa. The businessman told him that he understood the French hoped to buy our trucks at approximately $900 apiece and then sell them at $3400 or six times what the French government paid for them.

Asked what steps he would suggest to protect our nationals in the situation outlined, Mr. Hanes replied that any money advanced to foreign governments would be with the understanding that no war surplus material will be purchased until American firms have bought what they need under a first priority, such purchases, of course, not to be resold by the Americans.

"THE BRITISH are making it easy for their nationals to travel," Mr. Hanes said. "While Americans can't get the consent of their own State Department to go abroad the British are handing out visas left and right."

"Not only that, they are seeing to it that their businessmen on the continent are well cared for. For instance, they've taken over Marine's restaurant in Paris. It is now the British Empire Club for British businessmen. Food is scarce. Hotel rooms are scarcer. The British take care that their nationals are fed and housed."

Compared to the solicitude of the British for their own, treatment of the few American businessmen who have managed to wangle a visa in Washington is rather grim, according to the picture given by Mr. Hanes.

"Given that Americans could roam as freely as the British, they would have to sleep in the park and eat in the black market," Mr. Hanes declared. "There are no facilities for them, even if they could get visas, which they cannot."

Using the facilities of the Army, it would be a comparatively easy matter to pave the way for entrance of American businessmen into European industrial capitals, Mr. Hanes asserted.

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 18.—The big news today, and I mean news, is that David O. Selznick will remake "Little Women" in Technicolor.

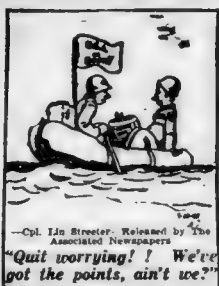

Jennifer Jones

D. O. S. bought the rights from RKO which is amusing in itself since he made the original, starring Katharine Hepburn and Joan Bennett, that lot 13 years ago, when he was boss there.

There are no stars lined up for the new fling at Louisa M. Alcott's classic, but what am I saying. When even children know Selznick has such appropriate little women as Jennifer Jones and Joan Fontaine under contract?

"Little Women" was made in the era when David was in a classics and semi-classics mood and started the industry by adhering strictly to the text of beloved novels. At that time he was making "David Copperfield," "Little Lord Fauntleroy," and "A Tale of Two Cities," in such a manner even their authors would recognize them. Still a stickler for authentic detail, most of the exteriors for the new "Little Women" will be made in the East in the original settings.

VIRGINIA MAYO, who has gone "Western" crazy, is so perturbed about riding in rodeos that Sam Goldwyn is inserting a clause in her new contract prohibiting her from riding anything tougher than a rocking horse while she is working on a picture. The blonde belle, who just finished "The Kid from Brooklyn" and who scored in "Fonder Man," has ridden in 10 rodeos, big and small, lately. Now, with gasoline rationing off, she's been hopping in her car every week-end with her horse in a trailer and yelling "Yippee" at some local fair or rodeo. Everybody to her own fun, I always say.

MARY ANITA LOOS and Dick Sale have an agreement with Eddie Albert that he goes along with the sale when, and if, their magazine story, "Remedies With Anita," is sold to the movies. It's a perfect yarn to bring Eddie back to the screen—about a soldier who goes AWOL to visit his wife before he ships overseas, and when it is discovered she is to become a movie actress, nobody believes he's the father because he is supposed to have been away. To keep the Hays Office happy, it's all played for light comedy.

Who is on Vacation?

Field was off with a head cold early in production, then anemia sent Lana Turner to a hospital for two weeks. Now it's Director Tay Garnett, laid up with a bad infection, and to top it, Producer Carey Wilson is limping badly after tripping over a cable and breaking his leg. So far, the "postman" is O. K.

SNOOPING IN LOP'S MAIL. I ran across an interesting letter from Vivian Duncan, enclosing an even more interesting picture of Evelyn, daughter of Vivian and Nils Asther. Oh, what a pretty girl! Her proud ma writes: "Evelyn is very tall and thin, plays the piano beautifully and has won a few ribbons for clever horsemanship. We're at the East Frisian Hotel in Las Vegas, after doing our bit in hospitals and camps all over the country. Wish we could stay here but it looks like our bookings will take us back East." Before they get away, some of the talent scouts could get a view of Evelyn with movie bookings out here in mind.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: When Charlie Russell looks at the moon he's seeing Nancy Guild. She, the college beauty whose picture in a national magazine won her a 20th contract; what's this about Betty Hutton putting about doing "California"? That's the script that brought on Alan Ladd's suspension. Apparently, everybody's miffed; one of the studios reportedly made a test of Harold Raymond's last love, Lupe Vélez; Maureen O'Hara, the cutup, gave Dick Haymes albums of Frank Sinatra and Bing Crosby records for his birthday; Fred MacMurray had the time of his life driving one of the new Fords around the 20th lot.

A COUPLE of heavy thinkers got into a debate at one of our clubs the other night as to the fundamental difference between the AFL and the CIO.

"The difference is very marked," said one. "The AFL has too many 'ums'—muzzums, minniums and referendums."

"What about the CIO?" asked the other.

"Oh," replied the other, "it has only one."

"What's that?"

"Damn 'um!"

Boston After Dark

WASHINGTON, D. C. (EXCLUSIVE): In the background of the determined sentiment in the Halls of Congress for a joint congressional investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster was the knowledge by Senate and House key figures of one tremendously vital fact in connection with the Japanese so-called sneak attack on the great United States Pacific base.

That vital fact in the chronology of the worst naval and military defeat ever suffered by Uncle Sam was that our Intelligence decoded the Japs' secret military code two full weeks before carrier-based planes wrecked the fleet and the defense installations, including the air strength, of the Hawaiian Islands.

IT IS AN ITEM of general knowledge at last that the Japanese code had been solved by our crack cryptographers (although for the duration of the war the general public has been permitted to believe that our Intelligence was gravely at fault). But, so far as we know, it has never before been printed that the decoding of the Japanese communications was so thorough a job that the highest figures in the government were acquainted with the approximate day and hour of the savage attack which cost so many lives and so much protection a good fortnight before the debacle.

WE PREDICT that the congressional investigation will spread that information before the eyes of the American public. That the probe will disclose that six high officials were supplied with word-by-word translations of the Japanese messages alerting Japanese military and naval elements for an attack on Pearl Harbor to be staged on Dec. 6 or Dec. 7, 1941. The Government leaders so informed were Secretary of War Stimson, the late Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, Secretary of State Hull, Adm. Stark, Gen. Marshall and—obviously—President Roosevelt.

SECRETARY STIMSON is ready to retire immediately. In fact, it would not be surprising to this corner if the venerable Secretary of War offers his resignation within 24 hours to President Truman. The forthcoming retirement is unrelated to the foregoing revelation of the belief by congressional key figures that the chief of the War Department was informed far in advance of the Pearl Harbor disaster that an attack was planned and prepared for the approximate hour of its occurrence.

ANOTHER "RETIREMENT" which you may anticipate with all confidence will be that of Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley.

IT SEEMS SOMEWHAT presumptuous on our part to match our information with veteran "think" commentators such as the astute and entertaining Lowell Thomas of radio fame. Nonetheless, it was with surprise that we heard Mr. Thomas make known on his latest broadcast that Gen. Eisenhower is not expected home before Oct. 15 or thereabouts. This is divergent from information we believe to be authentic that Gen. "Ike" is even now getting his affairs in order.

GEN. EISENHOWER — we predict — will be America-bound within a week.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—One time when I was covering sports, the poor hard-working sports editor (hawn!) went on a vacation and I was given the job of handing out the passes.

You might assume that a fellow who had passes to give away would make quite a few friends and live in a perpetual atmosphere of goodwill. But this proved far from the case.

Those who got the Annie Oakleys, or skulls, accepted them as their right. Those whom I had to turn down—for the simple reason there weren't any more—gave me dirty looks and went away muttering that I had probably gone out on a street corner and sold them.

Another peculiar manifestation presented itself. The first time a fellow came in for a pass he would ask for it very politely and usually, returning, a profuse thanks. The second time he would not be quite so profuse. The third time he would be quite offhand in his request and usually neglect to thank me at all.

But the fourth time he wouldn't just ask for the pass. He'd demand it!

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

"You've left Bill, eh? Well, your mother isn't here—she's gone home to your grandmother!"

IN ENSUING DAYS, as I found myself becoming more and more an object of loathing, I discussed this pass peculiarity with various gentlemen in the sports business. I remember talking to Horace Stoneham and Eddie Brannick of the Giants; old Casey Stengel of Brooklyn and even Billy Evans, who was then manager of the Cleveland Indians.

Mr. Evans, I recall, made a flat statement.

"Give a guy a pass three times in a row," he declared, "and you have made a pass-hound of him for life. He will never willingly go to get into a ball game again."

Mr. Evans said that once in St. Louis the management of the Browns decided it was handing out far too many free ducats. Quite a few people were coming to the park, but most of them on the cuff.

The Browns decided to make a test to see how many cash customers the team could attract. So, for one day only, it cut out all passes.

"One of the minor officials of the Browns had a brother-in-law," said Mr. Evans. "He always gave this brother-in-law passes. C'mon the no-ducat day, the brother-in-law showed up for his skill as usual. The official carefully and painstakingly explained there would be no passes that day; that the club wanted to see how many it could pull in on its own."

"That night the club official asked his brother-in-law how he had enjoyed the game."

"Oh, I didn't go in," said the pass-hound. "When I found I had to pay anyway I went over and saw the Cardinals!"

I DON'T KNOW what got me thinking about passes, except that it may have been something to do with the British Empire and its request for continued financial assistance. We've been letting the British Empire in on a pass for a long time now. Naturally, it does not want to go back to putting its dough on the line

Plan GI Party

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

LET'S HAVE A PARTY—a party just for the sake of having one. During the war we suppressed our partying instincts and devoted most of our time to war work, writing letters and keeping abreast of the advances of our armies. But now there's time for fun—and no one would deny that we're entitled to a little of it.

Why not have a "welcome home" party to some returning GI—or a back-to-school party—or even just an end-of-summer celebration? Make it gay. Have good music for the dancers—get some good records for the victrola. For guests who aren't old friends, break the ice with an introduction game like the one where everyone is tagged with the names of great lovers, Tristan and Isolde, Romeo and Juliet, Mickey and Minnie, etc.

And don't overlook the possibilities of a communal punch bowl—along with some attractive snacks. Choose foods that are easy to prepare, and there'll be fun for everyone.

CHEESE BALLS

- 1 pkg. cream cheese
- 2 tbsp. capers
- Horseradish, as desired
- 2 tbsp. peanut butter
- 1/2 cup salted peanuts, coarsely ground

Blend cream cheese, capers, horseradish and peanut butter. Shape into small balls. Roll in peanuts. Serve on toothpicks.

PARSLEY STRIPS

- 4 tbsp. butter or margarine
- 3 tbsp. grated American cheese
- 1 tbsp. cream
- 1 tbsp. minced parsley
- 1 tsp. prepared mustard
- 6 slices bread

Work butter until soft with a spoon; add all ingredients but bread. Spread on bread slices cut 1/2 inch thick. Remove crusts, cut each slice into three-finger size pieces, and broil until golden brown. Makes 14 strips.

CARROT WHEELS

Slice large carrots crosswise in thin slices. Chill thoroughly in refrigerator, placing in ice-water unless very fresh. Spread with peanut butter. A delightful addition to your canape tray.

AVOCADO PASTE

- 1 avocado
- 1 tbsp. minced onion
- 1/2 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tsp. chili sauce
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- Dish of mayonnaise

Cut avocado in half and remove pit. Remove pulp and mash with a fork. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Return to shell. Serve with crackers. If this paste is to stand some time, put the pit with it to prevent the mixture's turning black. Makes spread for about 40 small crackers.

APPLEWICHES

Wash and dry large, red-skinned apples. Cut in thin slices. Brush with lemon juice to prevent discoloration. Spread with peanut butter and put together as sandwich.

DUMPLING TRAY

- 1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 1/2 cup chili sauce
- 2 tbsp. horseradish
- 1 tsp. onion juice
- 1 tsp. mustard seeds
- Cucumber strips
- Carrot strips
- Flowerets of raw cauliflower
- Sliced dill pickles
- Shrimp on toothpicks

Mix mayonnaise, chili sauce, horseradish, onion juice and mustard seeds. Place in bowl in center of a large plate or cocktail tray. Arrange vegetables and shrimp in alternate groups around the sauce. Makes about 1 1/2 cups of sauce.

Bride Decides About Flowers

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am to be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of a dear friend of mine the last week of next month. The bride is to wear a Colonial-type dress, and our dresses are also to be of Colonial style. Now the question has come up as to what we are going to carry. The bride is to wear an orchid and carry a Rosary. As we bridesmaids do not wish to carry bouquets, what would be proper for us to carry?

2.—We bridesmaids are planning to give a shower for the bride-to-be. Should this shower be given at her house or at the house of one of the bridesmaids? And what kind of shower would then be most appropriate?

One of the Bridesmaids.

1.—It is not you bridesmaids who have the privilege of choosing what you wish to carry . . . It is the bride-to-be who decides what she wishes to have you carry, it is she or her family who orders the flowers and the design she wishes, and it is she or her family who pays for these accessories-to-your-costumes. She may choose to have you carry Colonial bouquets, or larger, more formal bouquets, or an informally-designed flower-arrangement. But remember that, as bridesmaids, it is your first duty to co-operate with every plan she makes for her wedding.

2.—The shower should be given at the house of one of the bridesmaids. And any kind of shower you think would be welcome to her will be appropriate: linen, crystal, china, a "personal" shower, kitchen shower, buffet-party accessories, paper shower, or most inclusive of all, the miscellaneous shower. (Mrs. Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on Good Manners submitted by readers.)

New Pearly Pink Lotion

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashions Editor

WITH THE FIRST CHILL WINDS of autumn, we are made aware of the complexion which we have neglected all summer. This is the season when we should take stock of our cosmetic shelf, and add to it at least one cream or lotion to refine and protect our skins from winter's ravages.

There is now on the market a pearly pink lotion which combines all the qualities of a protective cream, a powder base and a luxurious after-bath rub. It bears a famous name, one so highly esteemed that any new product of this house is a sure bet for success.

This lotion for smoothing and refining the pores and protecting the complexion against chapping and dryness is delightfully fragrant, exhilarating and non-sticky. It disappears almost instantly into the skin, leaving it with a dewy glow under a satiny surface, and serves as a make-up base which holds your powder indefinitely.

Moreover, it has an astringent quality. You smooth it sparingly over your tired face and you can just feel it work. This pearly lotion has the pick-up of a champagne cocktail . . . out is far better for your skin.

It seems too good, we think, to use as an after-bath lotion, except for special occasions when you really want to treat yourself well . . . but it is a hand lotion par excellence, and it would be no extravagance to use it freely on your hands, elbows and throat to get them into petal-smooth shape.

All this week there will be a representative of this famous house in Boston, visiting one of the department stores. She will be very happy to give you individual advice on your beauty problems, whether or not you want to buy.

Call Liberty 4000, weekdays except Saturdays, before 5, for more details on this skin-smoothing lotion.

Married Woman's Reaction

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:—That letter in your column from a soldier at a camp in Illinois, signed H. Z. O., really irritated me and I hope you'll print my reactions.

"Possibly a man can live more cheaply when single, but why does the average male never stop to consider this 'I'll be acquired a wife'?" And after promising her the world, the promises are quickly forgotten when he's caught and domesticated her.

"I'm married and we have three lovely children. My husband is a grand guy, he brings home his pay envelope, doesn't give a woman a second glance (not even me). Doesn't go out with the boys, never beats any of us or gets drunk. He comes home and stays there, so do I. "Yet, why should wives be thankful for a decent husband who does all these things, and pays the household and personal bills? We wives certainly earn this. We cook, sew, clean, wash and iron, act as nurse and chambermaid, as hostess, sweetheart and a sort of second mother when he wants a shoulder to cry on.

"Yes, some women nag and probably do make a man's life miserable, but don't men do some of the nagging too? During my 11 years of marriage, I've never had any time for fun or recreation. And when our children are grown, I've decided to get a job and pay my own bills. Then I can come and go as I please. I want to feel my own money in my pocket and lead my own life. Not a life anyone could object to, but just be free to come and go whenever I choose.

"Sure, I love my husband and he's a grand guy, but when it comes to keeping his wife as happy as he kept this fiancée—he's just not there. And from all I see on every side, most men are in the same class.

"This isn't a complaint, and I'm not looking for sympathy, but I just had to let that soldier know that men aren't such prizes either.

"I suppose we're all human—male and female as He created us—but that soldier's letter telling that women should be thankful for a crust to eat and a roof over their heads, burns me up. A WIFE"

Pockets That Float

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE POCKET is by tradition something that is fastened firmly to a garment when it isn't actually set right into it. So it is news when a designer contrives to set pockets afloat, which is just what Mme. Etta has done this fall. This brilliant designer of ready-made styles shows many dresses with pockets that hang floating from a belt, and they help to give grace to a lady's silhouette. They are called "Almonds." These pockets.

A model from Mme. Etta with the pocket floating is sketched. This is a smart black crepe dress, and the floating pocket is hung from the waistline at the front and right.

Employment For Women

A Promissory Note on America's Prosperity

By AUSTEN LAKE

HAPPILY, THUS FAR, THE STRIKING element of labor represents an infinitesimal section of the workers of great, industrial America which did its job so magnificently during the war. I remember writing from Normandy while our troops were still scratching a foothold on the shores of France, "I have always been vaguely glad of being American. Now I am fiercely proud of the same, since watching the moving masses of men and material."

Anyone who saw the gigantic caravans of stuff rolling along the roads of Europe, the flood of corpses which fed the supply and fighting fronts, knew that U. S. labor and management was doing a grand job. Of course, we read of wildcat strikes, walkouts and absenteeism, and sometimes it made our gaunt guys in the hedges and foxholes bitter. But the GI, though often envious of the exempted, stay-at-home craftsman, with his fat pay, envelope, his eight-hour day and the quiet blandishments of a life where one didn't freeze his feet, get shot at, or live a hedgehog's existence, gave U. S. industry full credit.

And now, with the big guns scarcely cooled, we've got something else. A minority of radical leaders are calling premature strikes before American industry has had a chance to convert from wartime to private enterprise and get the same sort of foothold on our postwar production as our guys did on Normandy beaches. It threatens to blight the national job market and block the returning veteran from his right to create something at a useful wage.

I Wrote "Take Heed America"

TO THESE I OFFER A SMALL MESSAGE. It's a reprint of what I wrote a year ago from the French combat zone. It still goes: "These men in U. S. mustard feel they hold a promissory note on the prosperity of America which they expect to cash in a some future time in the form of useful jobs at a living wage."

"They are not, as a body, men who attempt to analyze the mysteries of national economy or fluid wealth. All they know is that they left jobs or school when they were on the threshold of productive life, and they want it all back—something better. They have a blind, almost credulous faith that it will be waiting."

"These dog faces don't brood over problems of trade unionism, or industrial competition, or consumer capacities. They see the America of free enterprise and plenty that they left. They see their country against the standard of European scarcities and equal. There's nothing complex about these men whose minds have been bleached by time, distance and circumstance. They know nothing of political partisanship, of religious bigotry or of labor bickering. They are concerned now with the basic elements of living—it's bare simplicities. And their bitterness will be pretty terrible if they come back to non-existent jobs or absent opportunities. Take heed America!"

So now they're coming home—the first millions, and they want to collect on the promissory note. They want jobs, to marry, to buy a home and maybe a reasonable priced car and have tranquil securities. And if they find themselves plunged into an industrial war with work stoppage, idle factories, delays and scarcities, and an economy of selfish interest, they'll be cheated out of their just heritage!

Unions are good things and the writer belongs to one. A fair division of profits is a good thing. But profits have to be made before they can be distributed. Strikes and squabbling about profit-sharing before any profits exist is to distribute nothing but destitution and despair. The returned soldier sees that! But the activist minority of radical labor either cannot, or will not admit that "mutual co-operation" is a two-way street.

Sgt. Kinch Didn't Count His Pay Hours

I REMEMBER SGT. AL U. KINCH whose parents live at 302 Boston ave., Medford, and whom I met in France. Sgt. Kinch was a telephone-linesman who, like thousands of his fellows, worked from moonset to sundown stringing God-knows-how-many thousands of miles of copper wire and insulated cables. Long after dusk and late into the night, seven days a week, he worked 15 hours daily and sometimes more.

In civilian life Kinch's work would have drawn $1.50 an hour, union scale, for an average of 105 hours a week, with time and a half for overtime and double time for Sundays. As I computed his theoretical pay check it would have been some $202.50 each week. But for the same work under the rugged handicaps of war Sgt. Kinch drew $78 monthly plus $15.60 overseas bonus, or $234.60 per week. He didn't squawk. He told me, "Aw hell I never figured what my pay was till now." Nobody struck. Nobody stalled! And all wanted to get the damned job done and get again to what was universally called "God's green land."

I remember hearing a kid lieutenant of infantry with age-old eyes say: "I never realized before how interdependent the human animal is. I had to come half way around the world to appreciate the small, commonplace things I took so for granted when home. Geez, if I live I'll never squawk again." And that hospital plane from Paris to New York where soldiers lay in triple-tiered bunks with wire baskets over stumps where feet and hands had been. And the quiet, spiritual glow as they saw the U. S. coast line for the first time in three years. "Glory bitta God," said one. The rest said nothing but just drank it in. So what? Just this! The wider the gap which striking labor creates between conversion from full war production to full peace production the greater the drain on national savings, the heavier the burden of debt and depreciated facilities, the greater the tragic absurdity and the less chance the returned veteran has of cashing his promissory note. Who can default that debt?

Tigers' Trout Duels Nats

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18 (AP)—Charlie "Red" Barrett, the National League's winningest pitcher, will gun for his 22d victory tonight when the Cardinals square off against the league-leading Cubs to open a three-game series which may decide the pennant race.

The jovial redhead, who says he likes to get his games over in a hurry so he'll have more time for practical jokes, has won 19 of his 21 decisions since trading his Braves uniform for a Cardinal outfit in the Mort Cooper deal last May 23. He has lost 12 games, nine since coming to the world champions.

Red was just another right-hander while with the Braves. But the 30-year-old Californian has made Cardinal owner Sam Breadon mighty happy since coming to his new surroundings. Breadon parted with Cooper for a reported $60,000 and also got Barrett.

Mort developed arm trouble and has been of little use to Boston, while Red has been the mainstay of St. Louis' slender mound staff. Tonight he will be trying for his fourth straight victory over the Cubs. In his last appearance against the Bruins, he allowed only one hit and faced only 27 batters as the Cardinals won, 4 to 0.

Claude Passeau, who defeated the Cardinals' way back on June 24 for one of the Cubs' four lonely victories over St. Louis out of 17 tries this season, is Manager Charlie Grimm's choice to face the redhead.

Following Barrett, Manager Billy Southworth will parade Harry Brecheen and George Dockins to the mound in the next two games to face Hank Borowy and Ray Prim of the Cubs.

Both teams will be near full strength for the crucial set. Only Marty Marion is on the doubtful list of Cardinals. He is suffering from an aching back. The Cubs enter the series with a three-game lead and can virtually clinch their first pennant since 1938 by winning three games.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18—The Senators and Tigers hooked up today in the last of their five-game series to decide the championship of the American League. With the Bengals in a two and one-half game lead, Detroit assigned Dizzy Trout as its opening pitcher while the Senators countered with Walter Watterston, a discharged war veteran, who hurled a two-hitter against the Indians last week.

A. L. Bat Title Wide Open Race

The American League batting race remains a wide-open affair involving at least five players, but the National has narrowed to a duel between Phil Cavarretta of Chicago and Tommy Holmes of the Braves, according to the Associated Press.

Cavarretta today sported a five-point edge, according to averages including Sunday's games, with his .358 compared to Holmes' .333. Each has 12 games to play.

Series Shut Off

DETROIT, Sept. 18 (INS)—The Detroit Baseball Club announced today that it will accept no more applications for world series tickets.

More than 50,000 applications have swamped Ticket offices, necessitating the limit of four sets. If the Tigers win the A. L. pennant, the first three games of the world series will be held at Briggs Stadium, starting Wednesday, Oct. 3.

Annual Crimson-Eagle Grid Contest Discussed

By JACK CONWAY

Boston College, which managed to keep football teams going during the war under the most adverse conditions hopes to have a fairly representative eleven this season.

Moody Sarno believes that his club will gather strength during the coming weeks, and that Boston College rosters will have the patience to overlook any faults the team shows.

Boston College lacked a naval military setup like Notre Dame, Dartmouth, Holy Cross, Harvard and many other colleges had at the start of war. As a result the Eagles lost most of its star athletes. They either transferred colleges that had a military training program or enlisted in the Air Corps or other branches of the armed services.

Notre Dame, Dartmouth and Holy Cross were V-12 colleges and they were able to retain most of their stars, while they received additional strength from prep and high schools. Bob Kelly, the great Notre Dame back who is now at Annapolis, went to South Bend from a Chicago high school, and enrolled under the V-12 program.

As the war progressed, Boston College was able to effect an Army training program. This program however, was a short one, and by the time it had been put into effect most of the Boston College stars had entered active service.

The Army training programs also showed very little consideration for athletics. This was in direct contrast to the Navy programs which gave recognition to the value of athletics.

There was one period when there were only 400 students at Boston College. Despite this drastic drop in enrollment Athletic Director John Currier played a football team in the field. It was a team composed chiefly of youngsters just out of high school, but they carried on with great credit to themselves and to their college.

Harvard-B. C. Games

The war caused Boston College and Harvard to forget their old athletic differences. The football games between Boston College and Harvard furnished keen competition and they were witnessed by huge crowds. These contests during war time did much to eliminate the former friction between Boston College and the college across the Charles.

There should be a scheduled football game between Boston College and Harvard each fall. It would be a natural attraction and it would attract a capacity crowd to the Harvard Stadium. Athletic directors at Harvard and Boston College should consult immediately so as to arrange their future games so that such a game can become a reality.

A Boston College schedule that would include games with Harvard, Notre Dame, Dartmouth, and Holy Cross along with several other nationally prominent colleges would convince Gov. Tobin and Mayor Kerrigan that a stadium should be constructed in Boston that would be capable of seating 100,000 at a football game.

A Boston College eleven with full strength would fill such a

Forward Passing Attack

Coach Sarno, assisted by Don Currian and Al Florentino will concentrate on a forward passing attack this year. They have three good passers in Ed Cronin, Ed Ferdenzi and Jim McMurrow.

College and professional football teams that have made the grade have had an ace forward passer. Notre Dame was supreme when Angelo Bertelli was throwing forward passes, while Charley O'Rourke's passing had much to do with the victories gained by Frank Leahy's Boston College teams.

George Marshall never made any appreciable headway with the Redskins until he secured Sammy Baugh. The latter developed into one of the most brilliant forward passers professional football has known.

The top prep and high school players took a forward pass with the same skill and accuracy that a ball player uses in throwing a runner out at first base. Many of these school boys stars will enter Boston College, and one of them may develop into another Charley O'Rourke.

The school boys players in this section of the country are coached by men well versed in football. This is why New England school boys are sought by colleges in all parts of the country. These boys will do better if they go to Boston College, Harvard, Dartmouth, Holy Cross, Boston University or to some other New England college than if they go outside this section for their advanced education.

New England should be a leader in postwar athletics. It is fitting that Boston College should have an important part in this big program.

Bruins' Garden Opener Oct. 24

The Boston Bruins will open the National Hockey League season on Boston Garden ice, Wednesday, Oct. 24 against the Chicago Black Hawks.

This will be the earliest Boston opening for the Bruins in their 22 years in the National Hockey League. The Bruins will end their regular season schedule also in Boston and also against the Black Hawks, March 17.

The Bruins drew a home schedule which calls for games on 13 Wednesdays, one Tuesday, two Saturdays and nine Sundays.

The Boston squad will report to Manager Art Ross in Quebec City on October 9 for pre-game practice.

Do YOU Own A "Scratching" Dog?

Does your dog constantly scratch, dig and bite himself—often until his skin is raw and sore? He may be perfectly clean and flea free, but suffering from an intense itching irritation that has centered in the nerve endings of his skin. He is in torment and can't help scratching—unless you try to help him. Try giving him Rex Hunters Dog Powder, once each week, and note the quick improvement. One owner writes: "If my dog can't scratch Rex Hunters Dog Powder. He was raw and sore from scratching and just lay around. Now he plays and is full of pep." Ask for Rex Hunters Dog Powder at Lusk's Pet Shop, 119 Summer St., and at Franklin St. and leading dealers everywhere. Rex Hunters Dog Powder, 1 lb. jar for $1.00 only.

Melrose Solons Plan New Grid Stadium

By MIKE GILLOOLY

The town fathers of Melrose are making plans for a new stadium (as a post-war project) in which the high school teams will play their football games and the overly-pessimistic Coach Dave Gavin insists that by the time it is erected he'll have another undefeated season.

Coach Gavin (working his way slowly out of a quandary induced by the birth of a new daughter, Carol Ann) probably won't have a perfect slate again this season but his club should hold its own throughout the campaign.

Melrose has only four veterans from last year's eleven but two of these boys have possibilities of breaking into All-Scholastic ranks. One, Alden Murphy, a nifty 210-pound tackle, was tremendous as a sophomore, injured as a junior but he's now fully recovered and ready to smash through the toughest opposition.

The other, Ralph Loveys, blossomed as a nifty end last fall and he'll bear plenty of watching.

Loveys was a "find" as a basketball player while in the Chelsea schools. He moved to Melrose and shifted his talents to the gridiron. A 170-pound, 6-footer, Loveys is a lovely target for the aerial offense that typifies Melrose. And to help along this attack, Coach Gavin will have another experienced wing in Jim White, 170-pounds.

Veteran But Rathburn, full-back, will do the bulk of the pitching to the ends but he may lose this assignment to Pete Sheridan, the fourth of the brothers, who has taken over the quarterback berth. Sheridan is still green but should be developing his kicking and passing to a point that rivals his brothers' he'll be invaluable in the Melrose drive.

The battle for the halfback berths probably won't be decided until shortly before the opener Saturday afternoon at the dedication of the new Gloucester stadium. Tom Emerson has the edge over the field for the left-half but Dick Harlow and Garth Scott are still running neck and neck for the other opening.

In the line, Coach Gavin will have weight but only a small degree of inexperience. Vic Wells, a senior, at 190-pounds, and George Walker, 180, will be on either side of center Bob Gaige. Lewis Schlafman, another senior and a newcomer who tips the scales at 185-pounds, will fill out the tackle. And it'll take power to displace that weight!

Other Melrose candidates who will see service include: backs—Dick Burns, Charlie Webb, Don Warner, Ken Carlton, John Groucutt, John Kelly; ends—Dick Madden, Henry Green and Harry Williams; tackles—Billy Rowe and Dave Gilpin; guards—Bob Dowling, Bob Scarborough and John Nute, all sophomores, and center—John Wells.

After Gloucester, Melrose travels: (a) Haverhill, Sept. 28; Newton, Oct. 4; Malden, Oct. 12; Melrose, Oct. 20; Somerville, Oct. 27; (a) Wakefield, Nov. 3; Winchester, Nov. 10 and (a) Arlington on Thanksgiving Day.
